THE COURTS.

Wiegand, Late Counseller of War of the Duchy of Hesse Darmstadt.

RESISTING HIS EXTRADITION

A So'dier's Legacy and His Troop of Anxious Friends.

MATRIMONIAL MISERIES

The matter of the extradition of Ebernardt Wiegand, Counsellor of War of the Duchy of Hesse Darmstadt, on the charge of forgery and embezziement of public moneys, came up yesterday for argument before United States Commissioner Osborn. Judge Dittenhoefer, counsel for the accused, moved for his dis-charge on various grounds. The charge against the forgery, as embraced in the treaty of extradition; the charge being making false entries in the books of the Hessian government; that if anything, that was only forgery under the local law of New York, while the forgery embraced in the treaty was forgery which, in legislation of both countries-the United States the legislation of both countries—the United States and Germany—had some common element; that the making of false entries was not forgery by the laws of Germany and the United States; that it was only forgery, if at als, under the laws of the State of New York, and that there was no evidence anywhere that the alterations appearing in the books were made by the defendant, or in his handwriting, or that the books were even kept by him. As to the charge of embezzlement, the embezzlement mentioned in the treaty, he claimed, was the embezzlement of public moneys; that there is no evidence in the case that the money claimed, was the embezzlement of public money; that it may have been the private money of the Grand Duke, or the private fund of some regiment; it is simply called the whole and orphan fund, and that there is nothing showing that it was public money, that is, belonging to the people of State. If there was an embezzlement of the public money, he insisted further, that is outlawed, as on the face of the papers it appears that the embezzlement took place in 1867; that under our laws live years outlaws; that it must be judged by our laws, since the treaty provides that the evidence of criminality shail be such as will warrant the holding of the prisoner for trial under on laws of the State in which he is apprehended; and the law of Germany is not provide to be different; that there is no embezzlement charged anywhere, only a deficiency in the accounts; that deficiency is not synonymous with embezzlement, and that there is no direct proof anywhere that the deficiency is not synonymous with embezzlement, and that there is no direct proof anywhere that the deficiency is not synonymous with embezzlement and that there is no direct proof anywhere that the deficiency is not synonymous with embezzlement of the forman government. After arguing that making take curries in books is forgery at common law the lertiner agument was adjourned to next Saturday. and Germany-had some common element; that the MARITAL TROUBLES. Mrs. Anna E. Gardiner, wife of a "boss" stevedore attached to one of the steamship lines, and said to have accumulated some $70,000 within the last ten years, has commenced a suit in the Superior Court for limited divorce from her husband, John H. Gardiner. They were married May 27, 1866. The wife complains that ever since their marriage her husband treated her cruelly, but especially since 1873; that he has liquors, and that in his his of drunkenness he conf mitted acts of cruelty against her and their two chileren, aged nine and six years, respectively. The complaint specifies the acts of crueity, such as that, in 1874, he struck her with a poker, tore out her carrings, struck her with a poker, tore out her carrings, struck her with his centhed list, on one occasion giving her such a violent blow that she became insensible and remained unconscous several hours. She also says that when she informed him she would sue for separation he infreatened to train her, to seil in a property and clear out. She alloggs further that he spends for drink at least $200 a week. Almavits of two servant girls go to confarm the complaint. One states that the defendant one morning took out a roll of bills, which she believes amounted to thousands of dollars, rubbed them against her nose and asked her whother she worldn't like to have that much to throw away. Judge Van Vorst yesterday granted the wife an order to show cause, resturnable on Moneay, why the husband should not pay her $150 a week alimony pencing trial, and $500 counsel lee, and in the meantime restraining him from transferring or disposing of his property.

A suit has been brought in the Sapreme Court by Mrs. Eliza Jane Pullen, for limited divorce, on the ground of crucit treatment. The parties were married in October last, but, according to her story, her brief married inclusions the has been one of painfully bitter experiences, and wound up with his finally abandoning hr. In addition to treating her crucity she charges him with taking sway with nim $200 belonging to her mother and $400 telonging to an aunit, which sums had been intrusted to him to invest in business for his rapport. Sie says further that this $200 was all the money her mother had, and that the laster is now pennises. Sue says that naving obtained the money mentioned he left for Europe on the fith of January last, on the steamer Berlin, leaving her and her chief to shift for themselves. Judge Donohae, yesterday, on the above facts being made known to Fin, granted an order permitting service of the summons by publication. out her carrings, struck her with

HOOPS LEGACY.

A case was brought to a close in the Marine Court vestermy, the details of which are quite interesting. Johann Hoops and Herr Biohm were old friends in Germany, and when they came to this country their friendship was continued. When the war broke out Hoops joined the army and remained in it until hear the close of the war, while Biohm stayed at home and attended to a grocery and honor store. Hoops, as alleged, contracted had habits in the army, and when he returned he was a confirmed drunkard. He worked at odd time and money at Blohm's shop, where he helped a little and was helped a little by Blohm. In 1872 Hoops hears that his father is dead and that he has been left some money, and as his fread floom was going to the fatherland gave him a power of attorney to collect he. Blohm collects the money, and, after visiting his friends, returns to America, but mas poor Hoops dead and buries. Blohm does not however, ask for an accounting, but keeps very quiet, and was very much put out when the attorney for Hoops' relatives asked about the money. "I will put him up a tembstone and send what is left to Germany." says freed Blohm. The Public administrator brought suit through Mr. Johnes, and Blohm answered through Messra Leary & Bischoff, his counsel, that there was more money due him for board and lodging and money left on the remote chance of Hoops getting a legacy and of paying him atterward than he had collected. Just before trial Blohm, as alleged, remembers that he had afth attent to only $300 or $400 was due him, and, as he does not want to go beto c the Gand Jury, he prudently stays away and vonts New Jersey. Judgment was rendered against him. time and money at Blohm's shop, where he helped a

MESSNER, THE FRATRICIDE. There was quite a heated argument before Judge Donohue, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, in the habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Carl Messner, who murdered his brother John, at Schreninm F. Howe, who appeared on behalf of the prisoner. insisted that, although the accused was not justifiable in the commission of the fratricide, yet the Court should take into consideration the time and circumstances of the killing. Assistant District Attorney Leary claimed that no sympathy should be extended to Messner; that he had murdered his broiner in cold abood; that he couls be convicee of murder in the first degree, and that he was not entitled to bail. Mr. Howe replied that the case was one in which all leniency should be shown, that his chent was peacently at work, when his brother entered and indested him, and that what subsequently followed occurred in the heat of passion. After some further argument Judge Dononne ordered that $2,000 bail be taken, and that upon Messner's Frience at once secured the surety and he was released. in the commission of the fratricide, yet the Court

DISCHARGED FROM CUSTODY.

In the case of James Brightman, examined on Thursday last before Justice Losse, at Baldwin's, on a charge of incendiarism, preferred by John D. S. O'Brien, the Just ce has rendered his decision in favor of the accused, who was immediately discharged from custody. Brightman proposes now to commence accustody. Brightman proposes now to commence ac-tion against O'Brien for false arrest, imprisonment and malicious prosecution, laying his damages at $10,000. Another arrest has taken place in connect-tion with this case—that of Abrahum Rayner, one of O'Brien's witnesses, for contempt of Court in failing to appear at the Brightman investigation. Deputy Sheriif Matthews had considerable trouble in fluiding him and he resisted arrest, biting and kicking in a furious manner, but he was flually secured and lodged in the Queens County Jail.

ONE MORE TRIAL

Theodore Hellman, of No. 1,277 Third avonue, a few evenings ago called at Police Headquarters with the news that his wife had disappeared. At the time of Moore. She influenced her husband for good, and their lives were happy. But now he and their lives were happy. But now he thought she had committed suicate. At the Frity-seventh Street Court yesterday Hellman was a prisoner. His wife was the complainant, she accessed him or assault and battery. Examination revealed that Hellman is addicted to drink and, when so, is jealous of his wife and beats her. When he last chastised her she fled to ner parents' home, and when the husband asked there of her whereabouts he was informed she had not been there. Hellman in court yesterday promised to behave if she would once more trust him. She said she'd give him one more trial. Hellman took the pledge, and with his wile went home.

A HUSBAND'S REVENGE.

To avenge injuries done his wife Thomas Wade, or Friday night, entered Mrs. Eliza McKenna's apartments, at Eighty-eighth street and First avenue, and dragged her into the ballway, beat her and threw her down the stars. He then caught hold of Mrs. McKenan's daughter, who was endeavoring to protect her mother, and threw her down stars also. Wade was committed in the Fifty-seventh Street Court yester-day in default of $500.

THE WORTH OF HER MONEY.

On complaint of John Dunn, liquor dealer, of No. 319 East Twenty-lourth street, Mrs. Mary McDonald was arraigned in the Fifty-seventh Street Court yesterday, She was accused of interfering with his customers. It was brought out in court that Dunn's partner, O'Loughlin, three years ago was loaded $304 by Mrs. McDonaid, and the money has not been returned. In order to 'get the worth of her money?' she visits Dunn's store and gives vent to her feelings. She was discharged.

A TIMELY FIND.

About forty-five years ago William D. Borden, a land owner of Toms River, N. J., while measuring cordwood one day, lost his watch, and, although dili gent search was made, it could not be found. Yesterday, while Mr. Peet was clearing away some ground, he lound the watch and returned it to its owner, his name being engraved on the case. The watch is of the built-sep pattern, and since starting it last night has kept excellent time.

THE WAGES OF SIN

Some time ago an ex-policeman of Newark, named Isaac Decker, figured quite prominently as a temperance navigate. Last May be figured still more prominently in another role. He left his wife and family and rap off to Canada with a young girl named Kate Acker, who had up to that time borne a most envi-able reputation for good behavior and morality. had, it seems, become infatuated ex-policeman and ex-temperance advocate, and, regardless of consequences, cloped with him. Both have since remained away from Newark. Recently letters were received from Kate, stating that Decker had been treating here in a most cruel and unfecling manner, so that she could not remain with him. She is anxious to return to Newark, but her old irreads will have nothing to do with her. Meantime it is believed that she and Decker have parted com-pany. Decker's wire is respectably connected. It was at a temperance meeting that he became acquainted with Kate.

THE FEAST OF SAUSAGES.

Now that the warm months are past and autumn is upon us it is but natural that sports and festivities suitable to this time of the year should be entered into with real enjoyment. Under the nead of festivals comes the feast of sausages, or, as the Germans would say, "the Feast of Durckheimer," which began yester day at Harmony Hall, in Forsyth street, which is gayly decorated with flags and banners of every description, and will last for three consecutive days. The origin of the above mentioned feast was caused by a gathering of merchants from different parts of Germany who congregated at Dürckbeimer to offer to the inhabitants such goods as they could not purchase at home. The first festival was opened on St. Michael's Sunday, this day being considered the first day of autumn, when sausages and Rhine wine are first made; autumn, when sausages and Rhine wine are first made; hence the lestival derives its name. Sometimes as many as 50,000 Germans assemble on this occasion, and to satisfy the cravings of the inner man immensed dishes of sausages and baskets of real Dürckheimer Hhine wine are distributed freely among the crasts. One of the principal features will be dancing in native coasume by both sexes and the cating of sausages in every style imaginable. The people come from hearby places such as fleededors, Mayence, Mashleimer and many other well known places in Germany, and when gathered together take special delight in relating old tales in connection with the castle runs and monoments on the Rhine and the notice vineyards near by Wachenheim. Torst, Dedesheimer and Ungstein. The festival will be at its height this afternoon, when thousands will be enjoying its pleasures while imbilions the favorite old "Dürckheimer."

CLAIRMONT SAVINGS BANK.

COOPER EXPLAINS-THE PRESIDENT' OF THE UNION TRUST COMPANY SILENT-SKETCH OF GENERAL SMALLEY, THE RECEIVER-BROAD-WELL'S PAST CAREER.

The affairs of the Clairmont Bank seem to be more muddled than ever. The arrest of Sherman Broad-well, president of the institution, indicates that more serious developments are in store for the trusting depositors. The name of William Cooper was freely used in connection with the negotiating of loans for Vice President Swan of the Chairmont Bank, and the gentleman, who is a con-in-law of Broadwell, having quarrelled with Mr. Winser, a lawyer, afterward agreed to meet him at the bank. Mr. Cooper, a this meeting, said, "About last June Mr. Swan came

The reporter here asked the question of Mr. Cooper whether it was not strange that he (Cooper) should ! selected to raise money for the bank, seeing that he was a son-in-law of the president.

Mr. Cooper replied staffly :- "I am a broker, and I suppose the bank has a right to employ its own agents."
"Who loaned the money to you?" was the question

"The first loan made was by Winslow Lanter & Co. at the rate of three per cent on the bonds of the bank. The bank wished the loan transferred to the Union Trust Company and made a time loan at two per cent. The Trust Company refused to deal with Swan, the secretary of the bank, as he was unknown to them, but agreed to treat with me."

"So you deposited with the Union Trust Company $11,000 in United States bonds in your own name as security for a loan ?"

"Precisely." "What was the result?"

"I gave the bank at that time an order for the bonds, but the Trust Company, since the trouble has arisen, refuses to surrender them to the trustees," Mr. Cooper and that early last July an additional loan of posited the bank's bonds as security and the Trust Company gave a check of $2,500 to his own order. which he immediately indorsed over to Mr. Swan, as secretary of the bank. He asserted that in all these transactions he acted only as a broker, obtaining noth which he immediately indorsed over to Mr. Swan, as secretary of the bank. He asserted that in all these transactions he acted only as a broker, obtaining nothing but the usual commission. Mr. Swan had repaid $1,000 of the loan from the Trast Company.

Mr. King, the President of the Union Trust Company, was seen. He refused positively to hiswer any questions relating to Mr. Gooper or bonds of the Claremont Bank, and rudely turned his basic and waked away. It is not known, therefore, whether cooper has an interest in the Union Trust Company, as this mistitution is now supposed to be largely engaged in liquidation of the late Horace F. Clark's estate, and since the panic of 1875 has been doing only a small and supposed conservative business.

General H. A. Smalley took charge of the bank at about noon yesterday. He counted the cash on hand and reported it at $1,262 20. The count the day the Bank Examiner took charge there was reported to be about $3,000 on hand. Where has the balance of cash gone? The receiver binnell deserves a passing notice:—Heary A. Smalley has recently been through bankruptcy. On February 2. a potition was filed against him by seven creditors, whose claims were as follows: David A. Smalley, $4,000; Julia F. Smalley, $5,000; H. N. Twombly, $6,200; Hear R. Frak, $9,000; H. N. Twombly, $6,200; George W. Fisk, $20y, $6,000; H. N. Twombly, $6,200; George W. Fisk, $20y, in gold, and $2,804 20, currency. John H. Flatt was appointed assigned, but there were no assots whatever. Mr. Smalley applied for his discharge from bankruptcy, and there being no opposition his discharge was granted in May last. R. W. Newcomb and J. A. Strand are the bondamen of General Smalley. The TRUSTERS INDIGNANT.

It will be impossible to overestimate the indignation of those of the trustees who have come out of this lamentable affair clean handed. One of them shall one the reporter yesterday:—"Broadwell is not the only guilty man. Swan is just as culpable, and no doubt would be arrested, as it would be compounding a felony Broadwell's past career as the projector of the Morris and Essex Mutasi Coal Company was first made known in the firstath, and some interesting facts have since been developed in regard to this organization. It appears that it was started in 1866, with Broadwell as President and S. W. Corwin (a son in-law) as secretary. The stock certificates, at least many of them, were lasted from Morristown, but dated from New York. The people of Morristown, Matison, Milburn, Rockway, Boonetowa, Dover, New Vernon and other yillages were investors in the Morris and Essex Mutual Coal Company. The back of the stock certificates read thus:—

cates read thus:—

The holder of the within certificate is entitled annually to one ton of coal for each share of stock held by him, at cost, provided before the list day of July of each your he gives notice to the company of his desire to take coal, which will be delivered to him in pursuance of article 5 of the bylaws. The holders of shares who do not desire coal will receive their dividends in cash. Should more than 35,000 tons of coal be mined in any year the profits derived from its sale will be divided among all shurcholders alike, whether they have or have not elected to take coal rice, whether they have or have not elected to take coal at cost.

It can, therefore, be seen how specious this plan was. The principal use the villagers have made of late years of these certificates has been to paper the walls of their summer houses with them.

An old resident of Morristown, who was a member of the Baptist Church of which Mr. Broadwell was deacon, was more explicit with regard to the gentleman's career than any person whom the reporter chrountered. He said that Mr. Broadwell mails and the moved to beckertown. In this village, which he quit in 1844 or 1845, he left behind min a "very onsavory reputation." Being asked to go into particulars, the gentleman decimed, saying that his term covered all that he desired to say. From Deckertown Mr. Broadwell removed to Middletown, N. Y., thence to Ithaca and thence to Morristown. He had never been popular in the latter town. "Some years ago, while Dr. Bridgeman, who is now in Albary, was the pastor of the Baptist church here," added the gentleman, "there was some trou is between him and the deacon which lead to the pastor's withdrawal. There was some talk of a money scandal in which the deacon's name was used, but I didn't neaver it."

It was expected that more arrests would be made last evening in connection with the bank troubles.

BROOKLYN'S BROKEN BANK.

THE LAST PROPOSITION FROM THE TRUSTEES TO THE DEPOSITORS.

The officials of the Long Island Savings Bank feel pretty certain that the inigation through which they are about to pass will be attended with considerable expense, and in the end the depositors will have to suffer a loss. Should the Attorney General succeed in appointing a receiver to take charge of the institution all hope of patching up its affairs will be at an end. They have therefore been devising plans through which to escape the pending difficulties.

The total deposits in the bank amount to $850,000. The cost of the bank building was about $200,000, and they estimate the value of their real estate at they estimate the value of their real estate at $222,000. The superintendent of the banking department has stated that the present value of the bank building does not exceed $98,000. The trustees contend that this is not a fair estimate. At a meeting yesterday they appointed a special committee to make the best offer that could be made to the depositors, with a view to rescuing the bank from its present emburrassments. In committee consisted of Messix, E. G. Webster, Franklin Bell and John U. Perry.

Mr. Perry said that there would probably be about $2200,000 drawn out at once if the proposition was accepted. The consent of the Attorney General would have to be obtained to discontinue the litigation already begun. The trustees say they are ready to give bonds in the sum of $200,000 for the faithful performance of their part of the contract.

RAPID TRANSIT IN BROOKLYN.

Brookiya is to have an elevated railroad. Yesterday there was filed in the office of the Registrar of Kings county the map of the Brooklyn Central Elevated Railroad Company, as approved by a majority of the John M. Kenoe, Thomas C. Meighan, W. Wiltshire Rucy, D. W. Ketcham and Richard H. L. Tighe. The Riley, D. W. Ketcham and Richard H. L. Tighe. The object of the incorporators is to construct, under the the General Railroad law, an elevated railroad through the city of Brooklyn.

It is to start at Futton ferry; run, with a slight ascent, along the upper side of Furman street past Wall street ferry, at the same elevation as the orioge, to South ferry at Atlantic avenue; thence along Columbia street to West Baltic; along West Baltic; across Court to Baltic as far as Third avenue; along third avenue to Douglass street; across Fifth avenue to St. John's place; thence to Eighth avenue to St. John's place; thence to Eighth avenue to the depot of the Prospect Park and Coney Island Railroad Company, at Ninth avenue and Twentieth street, passing through the centre of the block between Nineteenth and Twentieth attests, and reaching the depot on a level with Ninth avenue. It is also in contemplation to have a branch at Fourth avenue to For Haunitor. The railroad is to be constructed on a single safety elevated rail. The length of the track above the street is to vary from twelve to inneteen feet, and a steam motor is to be used. There will be a station every two or three blocks, according to the exigences of trave, and it is believed that the distance from Foiton Ferry to the Prospect Park and Coney Island Depot will be made in tweaty-five minutes, stoppages included.

THE MONTCLAIR RAILROAD.

The Montclair and Greenwood Lake Railroad, running from New York to Greenwood Lake, was yesterday placed in the hands of Mr. Garret A. Hobart, of Passalc, the Court having appointed him receiver. Since its opening the road has never paid expenses, and the losses through the different changes in it management have been considerable. The road just passed from the management of Jacob R. Randolph, its first president, to the hands of J. Wyman Jones. The road was next managed by Mr. Verman Jones. The road was next managed by Mr. Vernam, one of the directors, and the line then only extended to Monks. An extension was made and $700,000 in bonds were issued for the equipments. Only $230,000 worth of the bonds were sold and a portion of the remainder was hypothecated for loans used in running the road. In May last Cyrus W. Field was elected president, and later the road passed under the management of Gunnel Burt, out no also imited to make it pay, and a short time ago was obliged to suspend the Orange Branch or the Watchensy Rullroad. The receiver appointed, Mr. Hobart, is also receiver of the Midland Railroad.

A DRUNKARD'S STARVING BABES.

Among the prisoners lodged in the Second Precinct station in Jersey City yesterday was William Connors, who was found in a state of intoxication in the street. When he became partially sober he told the police that when he became partainly score he told the ponce that they would find his five little children in a stable at No. 253 First street. The little ones were found hud-dled together, suivering with cold and starving. The inther having become a confirmed drunkard, the un-natural mother abandoned her offspring. The children were given in charge of the Overseer of the Poor.

WALL STREET, SATURDAY, Sept. 22—6 P. M. There was a touch of the old fashioned duliness upon the market to-day, such as was wont to characterize midsummer Saturdays of a year past, and business was restricted accordingly. Naturally prices were confined to a narrow range also, and fluctuated sluggishly within the limits of one per cent. During the first couple of hours prices moved up slightly, but as the big bugs did not seem inclined to help matters along they slipped back again, and finally closed modopening rates. To this, however, Western Union was a marked exception, remaining weak the day through and fluishing with a loss of one per cent upon the highest price. There is some evidence that the partics who were privy to the "arrangement" with the Atlantic and Pacific Company have been slipping their stock quietly upon the market while the property and the prosperous future which was in store for it. In this "sad vicessitude of things" there was nothing left for the small operators but to curse the elastic consciences of their leaders which had permitted the deception, and to sell also. The coal shares were rather notable for strength, making the best prices in final dealings, though the market was free from any reports that could be used to benefit them. The most notable matter of the day was the appearance of the bank statement, which is decidedly unfavorable, showing, as it does, a loss of $1,591,500 in legal tenders and a reduction of surplus reserve to $10,000,000, as against $18,000,000 at the same time last year. The immediate effect was to mark up the price of loves to 6 and 7 per cent, which were the rates at the close of business.
